AN EXPLANATION

OME may wonder why this genealogy is published in small parts, and why we do not begin with the oldest son of Jacob Miller instead of one of the youngest. The following are the main reasons:

1. We begin with Samuel Miller because we have more information on him and his descendants than on any of the others, while we have practically no information on David, who seems to have been the oldest. Moreover, Samuel remained at home, on the old "plantation," and his descendants largely settled near the old home. So we think it appropriate to start at the old home and follow these descendants as they scatter far and wide.

2. Some have said that they would rather have the whole history in one large book. We would most certainly rather have it that way ourselves, but it may be many years before this can be done, as there is much lacking from several of the branches of the "family tree." Hence, our idea has been, better publish what we have, and at least have that much, than to wait an indefinite time and perhaps not get any of it published.

2. As mentioned further on in connection with the history of this movement, we think it a decided advantage to publish the history in this way, and thus have an opportunity each year to make corrections and supply omissions. For instance, in PART II we can make corrections, and supply any omissions from PART I; in PART III, if we are fortunate to get to that, we can correct the mistakes made in I and II, and can make further additions to these parts. It is a well known fact that books of this kind get out of date very quickly. This PART I, no doubt before it gets off the press, will be out of date, in a sense, for there have undoubtedly been births, deaths and marriages since the manuscript was turned in to the printer. Hence, in future reunions we can aim to bring the history up to date as far as possible. Blank pages are inserted, also, for corrections and additions.

4. It is our present purpose, if we are spared to continue the publication as above outlined, to make the pages of uniform size so that the parts may be bound together at some future time. Those who desire can thus have the parts bound together in such style as they wish.

A REQUEST—We earnestly urge all members of the Clan to send frequent statements of births, deaths and marriages, and report any mistakes and omissions that they have noticed. Any historical facts in regard to the family of Millers we represent, or any items of interest will be welcomed. Much interesting material may be left out of this publication, but we can publish only what we know, and what is reported to us.

INTRODUCTION

WORK of tracing the descendants of a family over a period of six or eight generations, or more, is not the work of a day or two. Since we began this outline of the Jacob Miller family, some six years ago, we have been asked time and again whether the history of the Miller family was about ready. The majority of people do not realize what a man is up against when he begins a job like this. It would lighten the work considerably if all would respond promptly when asked for information that they can readily give. Many, however, are not interested in their ancestors or their close relatives, and are slow to give information. Furthermore, the fact that we have had practically all the information to gather by correspondence has made it difficult to obtain the data that we feel should be given.

“Young people rarely feel much interested in tracing their family history. It is only when the evening shadows begin to appear that they feel like trying to trace the long line of ancestry which has preceded them: how when and where they lived, what they did and when they died. It is unfortunate that this is the case, as sources of information that are available at one period of our lives are not so at another, and thus valuable data is forever lost.”

Franklin Keagy, in his history of the Kägy family.

“Interest in life must necessarily begin close at home, among our own families. However broad our interest may be, interest in our own blood must remain. Moreover, if we are willing to allow the memory of our own ancestors to fall into oblivion, we may be very sure that our own names will quickly and justly share the same fate.”

Prof. J. C. Branner, in “Casper Branner of Va.”

Dr. Branner in his history of the Branner family says that the gathering of the data for his book covered a period of some thirty years. Franklin Keagy, quoted above, says that he spent about twenty-five years in gathering the information for his history of the Kagey Family. These authors both realize that their work is very incomplete, and that there are many omissions and some errors, even after much time and money has been spent in correspondence, travel, and in examining many court records. This is the experience of most persons who have endeavored to write family histories. To prepare even an outline of a family as large as the branch of the Millers to which we belong, necessarily requires much time, patience and sacrifice. The information thus far gathered is herewith given, although very imperfect and incomplete, in the hope that other members of the clan will, after further research and investigation, add additional data that we do not now possess.

HISTORY OF THE MOVEMENT TO COLLECT DATA ON OUR LINE OF MILLERS

In 1931, some of the descendants of our ancestor, Jacob Miller, decided to make an attempt to gather information in connection with our line. For this purpose a reunion was held at the old Bridgewater Church, a little north of the town of Bridgewater, Va., on August 19, 1931. Many of the Miller descendants have worshipped in this old church, and a number of them have been laid to rest in the adjoining cemetery, the first grave having been that of Samuel Miller (son of Martin). This land was once a part of the estate of Martin Miller. About 150 persons were present at this first reunion. The frame work of the family was constructed and an organization was effected. The following officers were elected at this meeting, and have been re-elected each year up to the present (1936): Dr. O. L. Miller of Harrisonburg, Va., President; Rev. L. S. Miller of Harrisonburg, Vice President; Miss Mary F. Hinegardner of McGaheysville, Va., Secretary; Minor W. Miller of Bridgewater, Va., Treasurer; J. Carson Miller of Moores Store, Va., Historian. It was decided at this meeting to call the organization "The Clan of Jacob Miller of 1748."

A second reunion was appointed for 1932, and was held on the thirty-first of August, at the Flat Rock Church of the Brethren, near Moores Store, Va., and near where Jacob Miller himself located about 1782. A marked interest was shown at these meetings and another was appointed for 1933. This was held at Sangerville, in Augusta county, Va., on August 4. Over two hundred persons were present at this reunion, from various counties in Virginia and from several different states. It was shown that the representatives of this family are found most numerous in Shenandoah, Rockingham and Augusta counties in Virginia, and yet a number were present from Page and Highland counties, and also from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Washington, D. C. A number of letters of greeting were read at this meeting, showing that we were remembered by our cousins in Ohio, Indiana, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and other states. It was evident that the family tree had been growing in the past two years. Its members are to be found from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from Canada to Louisiana, Florida and Texas. The audience on this occasion was made up of old and young. At least two octogenarians were present, and a goodly number past the three score and ten mark. Besides these there were many from the fourth to the sixth generation from Jacob Miller. It was decided at this meeting to hold these reunions on a set date hereafter, and the first Saturday in August was selected as the time.

The fourth reunion of the family was held at Garbers Church, near Harrisonburg, Va. on August 4, 1934. This was also well attended. The Early family, which is also closely connected with the Miller family, was invited to be present, and a large number of the Earlys joined us in this reunion. The ground on which this church (Garbers) is built is historic ground, as two of the daughters of Jacob Miller lived near here, and the husband of one of them donated the land on which this church is built.

The reunion of 1935 was held in Bridgewater College church, on August 3. On account of the prevalence of infantile paralysis, the attendance was not as large as usual, although about a hundred persons were present. At each of these reunions an attempt was made to bring out information in regard to the Millers of this line and their connections. The Clan of Jacob Miller is not partial to any one family, or name, but in gathering the history of the Millers it has been found interesting to study the connected families, such as the Garbers, the Earlys, the Florys, the Wines and others who married into the Miller family. Elder John Garber, for instance, came from Maryland to the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, about 1775. His descendants have permeated practically every nook and corner of the Valley, and have spread to many other states. From him have descended practically all the Garbers and Florys in Virginia, also many of the Millers, Wines and Earlys, besides other families. It is simply impossible to study any one of these lines without studying the others. The author has gathered quite a good deal of material on these connected families in his study of the Millers, and the matter thus collected may be presented for publication in the future if there is a demand for it, and time can be found to put it in proper shape.

The sixth annual reunion of the Clan was held at the Flat Rock Church, near Moores Store, Virginia, on August 1, 1936. About two hundred persons were present from the nearby counties of the state and from several different states. Messages were read from a number of absent cousins living in the Middle and Far West. The interest in collecting our history does not seem to be waning. The question of publishing our history was taken up, and it was decided to publish it in parts as fast as it can be gotten ready provided there is a sufficient demand for it. A committee was appointed to investigate the cost of publishing in this way and to go ahead with the publication provided it was thought advisable.

Dr. O. L. Miller, Rev. L. S. Miller and J. Carson Miller were appointed as this committee.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF HELP FROM PEOPLE AND BOOKS

The compiler hereby returns thanks to the many who have kindly rendered assistance in collecting information. It would be impossible to give proper credit to all who have helped, as the matter herewith given has been gathered from a large variety of sources, here a little and there a little. We will say in the outset that there is practically nothing original in this genealogy. We have simply put together the various items as they came to us.

The following persons were appointed in the early part of our investigation as assistants to the historian. Those whose names are preceded by a star have rendered most excellent help on this Part I. The others are mentioned as helping on the work as a whole. Still others were called upon later, and will be mentioned in succeeding parts of this history.

THE MILLER NAME

It is generally known that many surnames originated in the trade or occupation of those who were so named. Take the names of Smith, Carpenter, Mason, Farmer, etc. for illustration. The name Miller was most likely given to the first of that name because he was a grinder of grain. We have the name coming from England and also from Germany. On the early English records it is found as Milner, Mellere, Meller, Millar, Millere and Miller. The last is the most common, and is now generally accepted in England and America. The name as given in connection with the German immigrants takes the following forms: Muller, Mueller, Muhler, Moehler, and Muehler.

From the early part of the seventeenth century on up, a large number of Millers came to this country from England and Germany. Our line of Millers is undoubtedly of German origin, as practically all of the records we find of Jacob Miller, our ancestor, and the signatures of himself and those with whom he was most closely associated are in German. When we consider that in the fifty years preceding the Revolutionary war over four hundred Millers came to this country from Germany, it will be seen how difficult it is to trace our ancestry back into the "old country." Then too, the common names, Jacob, John, Christian, etc., are repeated over and over, sometimes two or three of exactly the same name coming over in the same ship. At this date (1936) we are not sure whether Jacob of 1748, our ancestor, was born in Germany, or whether he was born in America. The early records of the family seem exceedingly scarce, and we shall have to depend on further research for more definite information on that point.

EARLY SETTLEMENTS IN THE VALLEY OF VIRGINIA

NEIGHBORS AND FRIENDS OF THE MILLERS

JACOB MILLER came to the Valley of Virginia about 1782, from Maryland or Pennsylvania. Others with whom the Miller family was afterwards connected were moving in and starting new homes. John Garber, with his wife and six children, moved here from Maryland in 1775. In 1782 or 1783 Elders Martin Garber, Michael Wine and John Gluck (Glick) settled in the same section. The Kageys and Sherfeys were also here at an early date.

Joseph and Susanna Fultz came from Germany in 1750, and settled in the Shenandoah Valley. Joseph was 19 years of age when he landed in this country. He fought in the Revolutionary War, winning honors for his bravery and daring. He received a commission as quartermaster in the Colonial army. In after years he often visited General Washington at his home, Mt. Vernon, and loved to tell his children about the great man. His was a noted family, remarkable for its size and for the long life of its members. He was twice married, having thirteen children by one wife and twelve by the other. Mrs. Magdalene Helsley was the twenty-fourth child. She died an octogenarian. Several of the family are said to have lived over a hundred years, and nearly all were over three-score. Joseph Fultz died surrounded by nineteen of his children, at his old home in Virginia at the advanced age of 87 years.

About the time the Garbers, Jacob Miller, Abraham Sherfy, John Glick, Michael Wine and others were locating in Shenandoah county, Va., a German family of five, by the name of Arnold, left Frederick, Md., and located near what is now known as Burlington, W. Va., on Beaver Run, in Mineral county. There were three brothers, Samuel, Zachariah and Daniel, and two sisters, Catharine and Charity. One of Jacob Miller's sons married a daughter of Zachariah Arnold, and one married a daughter of Daniel Arnold. Zachariah and Daniel Arnold were the sons of Samuel Arnold, who came from Germany. His wife was Abigail Miller, a daughter of Peter Miller. Abigail Miller is said to have been born in Germany in 1776, and died October 24, 1856. Peter Miller, her father, emigrated from Germany, and landed at Philadelphia when there were only a few houses there. Zachariah died June 5, 1829, aged 62 years. Elizabeth Arnold, daughter of Zachariah, married Samuel Miller (third wife). She is said to have had two sisters, Margaret born in 1800, and Hannah born in 1810.

Zachariah Arnold had seven sons. Of these, Benjamin, a minister of the Church of the Brethren, was the father of Elder Daniel B. Arnold. The mother of Daniel B. Arnold was a descendant of the above named Daniel Arnold.

Elder Daniel B. Arnold was born September 7, 1842, and died June 17, 1914. About 1864, he was married to Mary B. Ludwig. They had two sons and one daughter.

1. Charles E. Arnold, a prominent educator in the Church of the Brethren. For a sketch of his life see "Some Who Led," by D. L. Miller and Galen B. Royer.
2. Robert E. Arnold, Business Manager for the Brethren Publishing House, Elgin, Ill.
3. Minnie Arnold, the wife of Hurly Miller.

"Daniel B. Arnold is said to have travelled about 60,000 miles on his favorite horse, Celim, in the work of the church. He had more than ordinary faith in prayer. Once on his preaching tours, he got in company with a man who complained of the dry weather. Daniel B. asked him whether he had ever prayed for rain, and was told that he had not. Daniel B. suggested that they kneel by the roadside and pray for rain. Then after prayer, they started for the place of preaching. Soon the clouds began to roll up. They hurried on, but before they reached the place of preaching they were thoroughly drenched with rain."

—Extract from Gospel Messenger, July 25, 1914.

Yohann George Wein (Wine) came from Germany, landing at Philadelphia, October 25, 1748, with his wife and two little sons. He settled in York county Pennsylvania. Michael, the younger son, who was but three years old when he landed in America, and who is the ancestor of nearly all the Wines in the United States, married Susanna Miller of Frederick, Md., about the year 1773, and moved to Shenandoah county, Va., near Forestville, in 1785. They had twelve children, six sons and six daughters. John, the second son, married Elizabeth Garber, daughter of Elder Martin Garber, about the year 1803. John Wine was the father of Elder Jacob Wine, two of whose daughters married into the Miller family.

THE above inscription may be seen on an old sandstone in the Lydia Garber graveyard, about three-fourths of a mile south of Moores Store, Va. Thus Jacob Miller was 66 years, 9 months and 9 days old. In the following pages we shall endeavor to trace his descendants. According to his will, which is on record in the Clerk's office, at Woodstock, Va., he had eight children, five sons and three daughters. His children are here named in the order in which he gives them in his will. This may not be the order of birth. At the time of this writing dates of birth have not been found, with the exception of Abraham, who, according to other records was born Jan. 16, 1788, and died April 11, 1847.

Samuel is mentioned more fully in the will, most likely because he remained at home longer than the other sons, and took care of his step mother. The will of Jacob Miller shows that Samuel received the home place, which was situated on the north side of Holman's Creek, in Shenandoah county, Va.

"It is my will that my son, Samuel Miller, shall have my old plantation whereon I live, namely, 211 $\frac{1}{4}$ acres for the full price of 1100 pounds (£1100) good Virginia money. The land in the short hills, or mountain land, he shall have that with the other land—146 acres mountain land, more or less."

—Extract from Jacob Miller's will.

The will also states that Abraham was to have 200 acres in Augusta county, "on this side the North River," for which he was to pay 750 pounds good Virginia money.

His son Jacob was to have 198 acres "on the other side of the river" for 600 pounds good Virginia money. Jacob Miller, Jr., not being willing to comply with the terms specified in his father's will, allowed the executors, Daniel Garber and Jacob Garber, to sell this tract of land. It was bought by his brother, Martin Miller and his brother-in-law, Frederick Young.

The deed for this transaction, of which the following is an extract, is on record in the Augusta county, Virginia court, at Staunton, Va. See Deed Book No. 41, Page 98.

"This Indenture made the 22nd day of June One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixteen, between Daniel Garber and Jacob Garber, Exrs. of Jacob Miller, Dec'd of the county of Rockingham and state of Virginia, and Jacob Miller, Jr., and Susanna his wife of the county of Augusta and state aforesaid, of the one part, and Martin Miller and Frederick Young of the county of Rockingham and state aforesaid of the other part: Witnesseth that the said Daniel Garber and Jacob Garber, Exrs. of Jacob Miller, dec'd, have for and in consideration of the sum of Two Thousand Dollars, to them in hand paid by the said Martin Miller and Frederick Young, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, have granted bargained and sold unto them, the said Martin Miller and Frederick Young, one certain tract or parcel of land, being on the North River, in the county of Augusta, containing one hundred and ninety-eight acres, it being that part of the land which the said Jacob Miller, dec'd, willed to the said Jacob Miller, Jr., of the land he bought of William Hogshead and others. On certain terms specified in the said Jacob Miller's will, the said Jacob, Jr. not choosing to comply with, consented to the sale of said land, which is bounded as follows:

* * * * *

With all its appurtenances to them, the said Martin Miller and Frederick Young and their heirs forever, and they, the said Daniel Garber and Jacob Garber, Exrs. of the said Jacob Miller dec'd, do for themselves (as exrs.) and for the heirs of him, the said Jacob Miller Dec'd, do covenant them the said Martin Miller and Frederick Young that they the said Daniel Garber and Jacob Garber (as exrs.) of Jacob Miller Dec'd and the heirs of the said Jacob Miller, the said tract of land with its appurtenances to them, the said Martin Miller and Frederick Young, and their heirs, executors and administrators will forever covenant and defend, and they the said Jacob Miller, Jr. and Susanna his wife for themselves, their heirs, administrators and executors do hereby relinquish all their right and title in fee simple in and to the one hundred and ninety-eight acres of land vested in them by the will of the said Jacob Miller dec'd, to them the said Martin Miller and Frederick Young and their heirs, exrs. and administrators forever. In Witness whereof they the said Daniel Garber and Jacob Garber, Exrs. of Jacob Miller Dec'd and Jacob Miller Jr. and Susanna his wife have hereunto set their hand and seal the date above written."

FIRST GENERATION

JACOB MILLER, b. Oct. 2, 1748; d. July 11, 1815.

m. Anna Martha Wine

m. FRANCES BARGELBAUGH KAGEY.

Up to this time (Nov., 1936), we have been unable to find who Jacob Miller married for his first wife. He refers to his "wife" and his "said wife" in his will, but he does not mention her name. This is undoubtedly his second wife, and from Franklin Keagy's History of the Kägy Family we learn that Jacob Miller married Frances Kagey, the widow of Rudolph Kagey. Her three daughters, Elizabeth, Mary and Catharine seem to have lived with Jacob Miller and are mentioned in his will. Frances Kagey's maiden name was Frances Bargelbaugh. She came from Germany when she was fourteen years old. In Rupp's

30,000 names of emigrants we are told that John Jost Birckelbach came to this country from Rotterdam October 29, 1770. Franklin Keagy says: "He is confidently believed to be the parent of Frances Birckelbach, who became the wife of Rudolph Kagey."

Frances Birckelbach (or Bargelbaugh) must have married Jacob Miller about 1796, as we are told that her youngest daughter, Catharine, was three years old at the time her mother married Jacob Miller.

See The Kägy Family, p. 612.

The following are Jacob Miller's children, with approximate dates of birth:

1. David Miller, 1778
2. Susanna Miller, 1780
3. Martin Miller, 1782
4. Nancy Miller, 1784
5. Samuel Miller, 1786
6. Abraham Miller, b. Jan. 16, 1788; d. April 11, 1847
7. Jacob Miller, 1790
8. Barbara Miller, 1792

Exact dates of birth and death have not been found except in the case of Abraham.

The logical order of following up the descendants of Jacob Miller would be to begin with the descendants of the oldest first. Information in regard to the older ones is too meager at the present time, and besides the dates are too uncertain. Hence, we have taken for this Part I the descendants of Samuel Miller, because we have more information in regard to them. Samuel remained on the home place and took care of his mother (or rather step-mother). Part of the old Miller farm is still in possession of some of the descendants of Jacob Miller.

SECOND GENERATION

- No: 2. SAMUEL MILLER, b. _____; d. _____, 1837.
m. SARAH SHERFFY, b. _____; d. _____.
m. NANCY FULTZ, b. _____; d. _____.
m. ELIZABETH ARNOLD, b. Dec. 20, 1793; d. March 2, 1859.

Samuel Miller's last will, which is on record at Woodstock, Va., was made February 15, 1837, and was put on record by his son-in-law, David N. Kagey, Exr., June 12, 1837. 1837 therefore, must have been the year of his death.

Sarah Sherffy (or Sherffig, as it is written in old documents) was the daughter of Abraham Sherffig and Anna Sherffig. Casper Sherffig, the father of Abraham, lived in Maryland. The family must have located somewhere near Forestville, Virginia. Sarah Sherffig was the mother of Samuel Miller's first three children.

Nancy Fultz, daughter of Joseph Fultz, and Samuel Miller's second wife, was the mother of his fourth child, Catherine Miller Andes.

Elizabeth Arnold, Samuel Miller's third wife, was the mother of his last four children. It is known that Samuel Miller was buried in the Garber Cemetery, near Flat Rock, but his grave is unmarked.

2. Anthony Miller, b. _____; d. _____. No. 11.
3. John A. Miller, b. Nov. 20, 1824; d. July 9, 1857.
No. 12.
4. Catharine Miller, b. Jan. 22, 1826; d. Nov. 12, 1905. No. 13.
5. Abigail Miller, b. Feb. 7, 1828; d. Feb. 8, 1867.
Died unmarried.
6. Samuel Miller, b. Sept. 17, 1829. Died unmarried.

7. Michael Miller, b. Mar. 3, 1831; d. May 4, 1857.
No. 14.
8. Jacob (B) Miller, b. Nov. 30, 1833; d. Nov. 28,
1904. No. 15.

Abraham and Anna Sherffig were the parents of eleven children: John, Joshua, Magdalene, Salome, Barbara, Abraham, Anna, Sarah, Solomon, Martin and Samuel.

Samuel Miller and Nancy Fultz were married by Benjamin Bowman December 19, 1824.

THIRD GENERATION

No. 10. MARY MILLER, b. Mar. 18, 1817; d. Sept. 3, 1896. 2.

m. DAVID NEFF KAGEY, b. Feb. 27, 1809; d. Mar. 17, 1864.

David Neff Kagey was the fourth son of Abram Kagey, who was the fourth son of Henry Kagey of Pennsylvania. His ancestors came from Switzerland. He and Mary Miller were married December 18, 1834. They had fourteen children:

1. Samuel Kagey, b. Feb. 12, 1836; d. Mar. 5, 1836.
2. Abram D. Kagey, b. June 19, 1837; d. Feb. 8, 1927. No. 16.
3. Jacob H. Kagey, b. Oct. 15, 1839; d. Jan. 12, 1840.
4. John William Kagey, b. April 4, 1841; d. Mar. 5, 1925. No. 17.
5. David Anthony Kagey, b. Dec. 19, 1843; d. July 5, 1845.
6. Isaac Benjamin Kagey, b. Mar. 9, 1846; d. Nov. 25, 1935. No. 18.
7. Anna E. Kagey, b. Sept. 21, 1847; d. Aug. 7, 1923. No. 19.
8. Joseph M. Kagey, b. Feb. 5, 1850; d. Jan. 16, 1923. No. 20.

The first nine of the above children were born in Shenandoah county, Va., the last five in Rockingham county.

Mary Miller Kagey was a veritable cyclopedia of genealogy in herself, and the writer has often regretted that he did not take advantage of her wonderful memory, and apply to her for information on the family history that will most likely be lost forever. In his younger days, however, he was not interested in family history, and failed to make a record of the many family connections that "Aunt Polly" explained.
